

REGISTERED APPRENTICESHIP

A Good Choice for Your Son or Daughter

The U.S. Department of Labor's Registered Apprenticeship program allows your son or daughter to work and earn a paycheck – while learning skills and earning the certifications that employers want. Registered Apprenticeship provides more than 500,000 apprentices across the U.S. with industry-specific education, on-the-job training, nationally recognized certifications, and guaranteed wage increases.

What makes Registered Apprenticeship a good choice?

- ✦ Registered Apprenticeship programs pay individuals from day one, and are required to provide raises as apprentices attain additional skill levels.
- ✦ Apprentices learn their skills through structured, on-the-job training and related classroom instruction.
- ✦ Registered Apprenticeship programs foster a sense of personal independence and a strong path to success.
- ✦ Upon completion, apprentices receive nationally recognized certifications.
- ✦ Many of the apprenticeship programs partner with local colleges, enabling apprentices to earn college credit, sometimes paid for by the employer.
- ✦ There are more than 250,000 employers involved in the apprenticeship program, including nationally known companies such as CVS/pharmacy and UPS. These companies participate as program sponsors in a public/private partnership with the government to create a highly skilled workforce.
- ✦ Registered Apprenticeship programs offer long-term, successful career opportunities.
- ✦ Apprentices can earn a great salary and education without debt.

"I have excelled in my career and life and achieved my dreams due to my Registered Apprenticeship experience."

– Stephen, Florida Electrical Apprenticeship and Training, Inc.

"I attended two years at a university prior to joining the apprenticeship program. In the end, I was left with a ton of debt and no job to show for it. During my apprenticeship I received regular raises and was able to pay off my student loans."

– Nicole, electrician apprentice

"I'm a hands-on learner. The on-the-job training mixed with classroom education really keeps things relevant. Plus, I'm in class every week with 14 other apprentices who work at different offices in the area; we all learn from each other."

– René, dental assistant apprentice
