

Kentucky Claims Release 3.0

Dwight T. Lovan, Commissioner
Kentucky Department of Workers' Claims

Why Claims Release 3.0?

- Update database system/codes
- Streamline data
- Online filing initiatives
- Adherence to the IAIABC Standard

What does Kentucky do with EDI submitted information?

- Pull statistical data for a variety of reasons:
 - a) Publications
 - b) Government entities
 - c) Health care representatives
 - d) Updating state and national databanks
 - e) Information sharing agreements with other state and federal agencies
 - f) Process timely filing reports on 00 Originals, S1 Suspensions and Initial Payments to ensure carrier performance
 - g) Gather information for legislative initiatives

EDI Basics

- A First Report of Injury can be filed as one of the following MTCs:

00 - Original

04 - Denial

AU - Acquired Unallocated/AQ - Acquired Claim

UI - Under Investigation

EDI Basics

- All mandatory fields must be completed in accordance with the DWC Element/Event Tables
- Must be accepted on file no later than 10 days from being reported to the Employer (KRS 342.038)
 - a) Employer has three days to notify the Claim Administrator
 - b) Claim Administrator has seven days to notify DWC

EDI Basics

- When a Date of Death (DN0057) is filed with the Department of Workers' Claims, a fatality letter is generated and mailed to family of the deceased.
- The Accident Description (DN0038) will not be used for anything other than the accident description as prescribed by the IAIABC standard.

EDI Basics

MTC FN – Final: Kentucky does not recognize a FN as closing out the claim within KRS 342. Medical benefits can remain open after indemnity payments have ceased. A statute letter to the injured worker will not be sent as a result of the FN - a report that benefits have been suspended (Sxx-suspension) is the only report that will trigger the generation of this letter.

EDI Basics- Acknowledgements

- TA – Transmission accepted - The EDI transmission was accepted by DWK with no errors.
- TR – Transmission rejected – The EDI transmission was rejected. Errors must be corrected and the record resubmitted.
- TE – Transmission accepted with errors – Ky does not send TE acknowledgements as of 1/16/2009.

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- No more manual change forms – the FROI (02) Change MTC can be used to make changes to matching DN fields such as DOI, Employee ID, etc. Only one change is allowed per transaction for matching fields.
- If data element is on both the FROI and SROI, a change to that DN field should be sent via FROI (02).
- Both the four digit SIC and the six digit NAIC industry codes will be accepted.

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- NLT claims will be accepted without a workaround as was necessary in R1.
- The SSN, ID Assigned by Jurisdiction and Green Card number will be accepted for Employee ID. The following formula supplied in the “ID Assigned by Jurisdiction” field is acceptable when a SSN is not available: 999 + MMDDYY (Employee’s DOB). Please send a FROI (02) Change transaction as soon as possible with the valid Employee ID.

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- A FROI (UI) will be accepted when a determination has not been made if the claim is compensable. However, the FROI (00) or (04) will continue to be accepted for this scenario as well.
- The FROI (UI) must be followed by the appropriate FROI transaction depending upon whether it is determined to be compensable or not. SROIs will not be accepted until another FROI transaction has been accepted after the initial FROI (UI).

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- If benefits have been reported, a FROI (04) Denial or SROI (04) Denial will not be accepted until a suspension of benefits is accepted.
- If benefits have been reported, a suspension of benefits is recommended prior to a FROI (01) Cancel. However, if the entity isn't able to send a suspension, the jurisdiction will assume that the FROI (01) Cancel is also suspending the payments.
- A FROI (AQ) can only be filed if a FROI (00), (04) or (AU) is already on file.

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- FROI (CO) Correction transactions will only be accepted through June 30, 2011 and only on legacy claims filed prior to January 16, 2009.
- It will no longer be necessary to file a FROI (00) to reinstate a FROI (04). SROIs will be accepted after a FROI (04) Denial has been accepted.
- The BM is the only periodic report that is statutorily required. The BM can be used to report indemnity payments as well as other periodic payments.

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- KY does not accept TPD (Temporary Partial Disability) reports. If the 070 or 270 code is provided for DN85 (Benefit Type Code) or DN0222 (Payment Reason code), the record will be rejected.
- Statute letters will be generated for all suspension codes; upon receipt of a FROI or SROI (04) Denial; and when a DOD is reported.
- The SROI (FN) Final report will NOT generate a statute letter.

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- Notice that there are three DNs associated with RTW date: DN72 (Current), DN68 (Initial) and DN189 (Return to Work Type Code). These will be very beneficial to include for timely filing reports generated by the DWC.
- The Payment adjustment end dates are relevant when statute letters are generated.
- Per Kentucky statute, a FROI should always be reported for fatalities and SROIs filed if benefits are paid to the deceased worker's family (death benefit, dependent's ongoing benefits, etc.).

What Significant Changes Exist Migrating From R1 to R3?

- A valid accident description is absolutely necessary. Kentucky no longer accepts anything other than a detailed accident description in this field. If a valid description is not provided, the record will be manually rejected.
